

100-128 AD

c. 60-130 AD.

JUVENAL'S 16 Satires. These are scathing attacks on the corruption of social and political life in Rome, which he contrasts with older standards. Many of his epigrammatic sayings - for ex., "A sound mind in a sound body" - have passed into everyday use.

C 100 AD.

Hebrew Cal.

In the rabbinical period precise calculation came to be employed to give 7 out of 19 years ~~year~~ an extra month. (This method was rejected by such sectarian group as the QARITES and it long remained the source of numerous disputes.

AD 100

---

The maya system of numeration had developed by about 100 AD

(In the maya system, a dot stands for 1 and a bar stands for 5)

100-7178AD

---

PTOLEMY (no relation to Greek rulers of Egypt) wrote his guide to Geography. This book contains latitude & longitude of 8000 places on the earth.

He also wrote the ALMAGEST

AD 100

Adventurous Polynesians occupied the islands of the broad Pacific east from Fiji. Again & again they set off in sailing canoes with fishing gear, stone tools, pig, and coconuts; steering by the stars, they made landfalls on far-flung islands - first to the Marquesas in mid-Pacific by AD 100 and radiating thence to Hawaii in the north, Easter Island in the extreme east, and New Zealand far to the southwest. Whatever danger they face in the wake of the ocean, the Polynesians did not assume themselves for from the desire market of Europe.

100

DURANT

During the ~~elder~~ YOUNGER.
Secundus was Consul

In 103, he was made augur.

In 105, he was made "Curator of the Bed and Banks of the Tiber and the City Sewers."

His 3rd wife was CALPURNIA

1 Sept AD 1000

---

P. Lemj. took up office as Consul

Goths

Tacitus noticed that the GUTONES, like their neighbors, were ruled by Kings who had considerable power
by Germanic standards.

C56-C117 Cornelius TACITUS

100 AD

DURANT

Jews numbered, some 20,000 in Rome. They lived mostly on the west side of the TIBER
where they suffered periodically
from the floods.

C100AD.

SUETONIUS reported that maps of the world were exclusively for government use, and it was a crime for a private person to possess one.

CAIUS SUETONIUS TRANQUILLUS

C69AD - C140